PRINCIPAL COMMENTS – Paul Jorgensen

We have looked at how we run our assemblies over the past few terms and through discussion and at our Leadership meeting we have decided for Term 1 to have our assemblies on a Friday afternoon on a fortnightly basis beginning this week. Therefore we have an assembly today and our next whole school assembly will be on Friday March 3rd around 2.45pm. We have done this to maximise our classroom learning time and also in the hope of having as many parents as possible engage in our assemblies. Reminders will also be sent out on the day of the assemblies through our School App.

We encourage any parents who have some spare time and are willing to support our school in a variety of ways to contact us. Classrooms are always looking for helpers for reading activities, Inquiry activities, cooking, excursions to name a few. Please contact your child's classroom teacher if you are able to help out in any way, on a regular basis or even from time to time. We are also after anyone who may be able to complete the occasional job in the school yard. We generally have something to do and at the moment we want to get the soft fall under our playground rotary hoed and new soft fall put in. We have our own school rotary hoe to do the job, we just need the workers. Please contact me if you are able to help out.

School Council elections are now in progress and I encourage any parents interested to contact the office for nomination forms. You can be nominated by others or you can nominate yourself. Over the past few years we have not had a full school council which can make the running of School Council difficult at times. All positions on school council are currently vacant so we have seven parent vacancies and four DET (Staff) vacancies as well as a Community Representative position.

Preview from F/1W and 1S

Next week the Foundation students will be looking at the letters, Bb, Ff and Oo and practising writing their name. Grade Ones will be continuing to learn about 'wh' words as well as high-frequency words. In writing, we will focus on full stops, exclamation marks and question marks and how they are used to make statements, exclamations and ask questions. You could keep an eye out for these in your child's reader throughout the week.

In Maths, our focus will be Addition. We will be exploring concepts including numbers that add to make 10 and doubles facts. At home, take opportunities to add objects with your child. This could be at home, when you are shopping (eg how many apples altogether?) or playing/watching sports (adding scores).

Our Show and Share topic for this week is: Bring a picture of yourself as a baby.

This week we have begun our Inquiry into “What’s good for me?” Thank you to those families who were able to send in examples of food packaging, which we will use in our exploration of what the food we eat contains. It would be great if students could bring a few more boxes, packets or containers before next Friday. Next week we will ask students to use a “Food Diary” to keep track the food they are eat for the week. We have given students a sheet to record this on and ask that it be returned next Friday in time for the following week's Inquiry and Maths sessions. Students will use the data collected to help deepen their understanding of food choices and the nutrients available in the different foods we eat.

During Reading next week, we will be launching the CAFÉ approach to reading. CAFÉ stands for Comprehension, Accuracy, Fluency and Expanding Vocabulary and it will be used to introduce and reinforce the strategies that good readers use. We have noticed that many students are not observing punctuation in the texts they are reading. If you notice your child missing full stops or commas, or stopping at incorrect places when reading aloud, encourage them to re-read using the correct pauses and phrasing. Reading assessments have been undertaken over the past two weeks, which means we have gathered information that will help students to set reading goals in the next few weeks. To support students at home, ask them if they have a reading goal and how they are working towards achieving it.

In Mathematics next week, we will have a focus on mental math strategies for addition. To support your child at home, encourage them to play simple games using cards or dice. An example of this is that two cards are drawn and the first person to calculate the total wins the cards. Ask your child what kind of strategies they are using to work out the answer and if there are faster ways they could do it.

In Writing next week we will have a focus on using boundary punctuation in our own writing; that is the use of full stops, exclamation marks, question marks and capital letters. Students will continue to check in with their Writing Checklists and should have set writing goals to focus on. To support your child at home, ask them what their writing goal is and encourage them to write short stories or letters so that they can practice using punctuation correctly.

Have a great weekend!

Kelly Alexander and Mark Atherton.

We continue our focus on healthy eating. The students are building on their understandings of healthy eating and analysing the nutritional packaging on a variety of foods. In teams we are researching healthy school snacks and writing procedural recipes to prepare at school. Students will construct packaging for their snack and explore nets, prisms and angles. In writing, they will compose a procedural essay so we can make a class recipe book of healthy snacks.

During Week Three, we have assessed all students reading and spelling. This week we will continue reading, spelling and mathematics testing.

Homework: Please ask your child to discuss this week's homework tasks as outlined in their homework folder.
